Dear [redacted]

Now, to go to another matter, please note that the National Counter Intelligence Corps Association is having its twenty eighth national convention which is an annual event. This year it is in Chicago at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel from Thursday, July 31st, 1975, until Sunday, August 3rd, 1975. Last year the convention was in Miami and the year before it was in Las Vegas.

I have been asked to get in touch with you about the possibility of having William E. Colby as our main speaker. At our first national convention in 1948, we had Rear Admiral Roscoe Hillenkoeter, the first director of the CIA, as our main speaker here in Chicago. In 1951, Lyman B. Kirkpatrick spoke to us at Cleveland and in 1954, again in Chicago, [redacted] spoke to us during the absence of Allen Dulles who was in Europe.

STAT

I shall be glad to send an invitation to Mr. Colby on behalf of the NCICA of which I was president in 1967. We have a mailing list of several thousand and about two to three hundred will be at the convention.

With best wishes and highest regards for both you and [redacted]

As ever, Sabin I. Russell
